DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-76 are pending in this application and subject to the following restriction.

Claims 58-60 erroneously refer to the method of claim 36 whereas claim 36 is a composition.

For purposes of restriction claims 58-60 are read to read on the composition of claim 36.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-16, drawn to a method of inducing retrograde transport comprising increasing an activity or level of a molecule involved in importin mediated retrograde transport.

Group II, claims 17-35, drawn to a method of modulating growth of an axon comprising regulating importin mediated retrograde transport.

Group III, claims 36-60, drawn to a composition comprising a compound associated with a molecule participating in importin mediated retrograde transport.

Group IV, claims 61-76, drawn to a polynucleotide encoding a chimeric polypeptide comprising at least a portion of a molecule participating in importin mediated retrograde transport.

The inventions listed as Group I-IV do not relate to a single general inventive concept because they lack the same or corresponding technical feature. Groups I-IV do not share a special technical feature, while the groups are unified by being directed to importin mediated retrograde transport, the art teaches molecules involved in importin mediated transport for example, Horgan and Stork (Experimental Cell Research, 20003, pages 208-220) teach phosphorylated ERK and

Art Unit: 1633

ERK, which are inherently are involved in importin mediate retrograde transport. Hence, the claims lack a special technical feature. Furthermore, Groups I-II comprise distinct process steps and therefore do not comprise the same “special technical feature”. For example, Group I requires an increase in a molecule participating in importin transport to induce retrograde transport whereas the methods of Group II require modulating axon growth. The methods lack a special technical feature. As the methods lack a special technical feature, the claims are patentably distinct.

Should applicants elect Group I-IV, the claims recite a genus of importin transport molecules. The species of molecules are recited in claim 4, 23, 46 and 62; claim 1, 18, 36 and 61 are generic.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the species are structurally distinct and do not have a common structure.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provision of MPEP 821.04. Process claims that depend for or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable produce will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendment submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

Art Unit: 1633

In the event of rejoinder, the requirements for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 USC 101, 101, 103 and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See “Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claim in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 USC 103(b),” 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 USC 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
